Food is something that many people enjoy, regardless of religion, color, or culture. The food reflects culture; however, many people desire to experience various cultures' food but don't know what they should try. I decided to create this food Cuisine Category application created by visual studios. It took me four hours to make it to solve this problem.

The application allows you to choose from a range of other cultures' most popular dishes like French, Spanish, and Italian, foods with ease. Anyone may browse and use this website, including chefs, cooks, tourists, and individuals who want to try something new. Anyone can use it to learn about food. I came up with the concept for my application since I have lived in various areas throughout my life, which has led to me experiencing diverse meals worldwide. This event inspired me to try meals from multiple cultures. Still, it was difficult to discover those delicacies on the internet, so I decided to develop my program to address that issue. I created my design by looking for a backdrop that was relevant to food topics, for example, a background with a kitchen knife because a kitchen knife is a piece of popular equipment used in food preparation. You will see ten links representing ten different countries when you launch the program. A second tap will appear when you click them, displaying some of the most popular dishes in that region. One person can only use the program I designed at a time.

Finally, the program allows you to select from the most popular cuisines, French, Spanish, and Italian. Anyone, including chefs, cooks, visitors, and those looking to try something new, is welcome to view and utilize this website. One user may only use the application at a time. I produced the concept for my application since I've lived in various locales throughout my life, exposing me to a diverse selection of cuisines from across the world. Still, obtaining those delicacies on the internet proved difficult, so I decided to develop my program.
